JOHNNY WONDER
Q. HOW IS LEATHER MADE?

KEN RYAN, OF SANTA CRUZ, CA, WINS A PRIZE FOR THIS QUESTION.
A. Leather is made from the skins, or hides, of such animals as cows, sheep and goats. The skins are made into leather by a process called "tanning." Before tanning, the raw skins are "cured"—softened and purified—in successive baths of salt water, fresh water and chemicals. Workers remove hair and flesh from the skins with machines and by hand. The tanning process involves soaking the cured skins in vegetable and/or chemical solutions, to give the skins qualities desired of leather, such as softness and durability. Then the leather is oiled and dyed, and shaped into a final product.
You can win a World's Most Interesting Question is selected. Send your name and age to JOHNNY WONDER, c/o THE NEWSPAPER, P.O. Box 1248, Santa Cruz, CA 95061.
